Welcome

Hello and Congratulations on Becoming a Violet!

Here at New York University, your lived experience as a military-connected student is valued. In fact, the history of NYU and the military dates back to World War I and continues to thrive to this day! No matter your length of service or connection to the military, we've got your back. This guide will provide important information about resources and services, and will connect YOU with a network of support to meet your academic and student life goals. Please keep this guide on the ready to learn more about opportunities as you navigate a journey for a fulfilling life at NYU.

If you find yourself with questions or in need of someone to talk to about any of this (and more), please don't hesitate to give us a shout at veterans@nyu.edu. If your question is about the GI Bill and other educational benefits, please reach out to certifications@nyu.edu.

Using Your VA Educational Benefits at NYU

Step by step process for using your VA Educational Benefits at NYU:

NOTE: Students enrolled in the Graduate Division of Stern School of Business OR the School of Medicine must submit their GI Bill certification through those colleges, not via the process below.

GI Bill is a registered trademark of the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs (VA). More information about educational benefits offered by VA is available at the official U.S. government website.

1. To use your benefits through the Veterans Administration:
  - If you know which benefit you want to use, apply online at: www.va.gov/education/how-to-apply
  - Visit your nearest VA regional office to apply in person
  - Consult with the VA Certifying Official at the Registrar; this official has application forms and can help you apply
  - Call 1-888-GIBILL-1 (888-442-4551) to have the application mailed to you
2. After applying and completing all necessary paperwork, you will receive a Certificate of Eligibility (COE) letter from the VA detailing the chapter and benefits for which you are eligible.

After you accept admission to NYU:

1. Reach out to your academic advisor and register for classes
2. Request to be certified by NYU to receive your benefits by completing the Registrar's Veterans Benefits Form
3. If you are a veteran receiving Veteran Readiness & Employment (VR&E/Chapter 31) benefits, please include your tuition and fee authorization code in the Registrar's Veterans Benefits Form

Returning students may request to use their benefits by completing the Registrar's Veterans Benefits Form for every term they wish to be certified.

NOTES:

- You must be enrolled in courses in order to be certified by NYU to receive veteran educational benefits
- Veterans receiving Veteran Readiness & Employment (VR&E/Chapter 31) Benefits must submit a tuition and fees authorization code along with the Registrar's Veterans Benefits Form every term
- Remember that all students receiving veterans' benefits are expected to complete their designated academic career objective (bachelor's, master's, doctorate, or certificate) with the minimum possible number of credits
- Non-credit courses and credits taken for non-punitive grades ("W" grades or audit purpose, as well as credits beyond the minimum scholastic requirements of an academic program) will not be authorized for payment by the VA)
- Soon after registering or at least six weeks prior the term start date: Initial certification with the VA of your attendance at NYU for the upcoming term
- Two weeks before the term start date: Book stipend assignment (for eligible beneficiaries)
- After add/drop deadline: Final certification with the VA of your exact amount of credits (in-person, hybrid and/or online) and tuition/fee charges for the term
- Any registration changes after add/drop should be communicated to the School Certifying Official by emailing certifications@nyu.edu
- Basic Allowance Housing (BAH) payments are paid to eligible beneficiaries at the beginning of the month for the previous month
- Example: September BAH is paid at the beginning of October

Yellow Ribbon

NYU is pleased to participate in the Yellow Ribbon GI Education Enhancement Program. The program is a provision of the Post 9/11 Veterans Educational Assistance Act of 2008. Yellow Ribbon is a scholarship designed to help students supplement their Post 9/11 GI Bill® tuition benefits.

NYU will provide funds toward tuition and fees, and Veterans' Affairs (VA) will match NYU's contribution for each eligible veteran student. The amount of Yellow Ribbon contribution is determined by the host school. Please visit NYU's Yellow Ribbon website for additional information. Yellow Ribbon is further determined by the amount of other benefits provided to an eligible student, including Post 9/11 (Chapter 33) tuition and fee payments. You may therefore not be eligible for the maximum amount each year.

For questions about the GI Bill, including VR&E and Yellow Ribbon, please email certifications@nyu.edu or call (212) 998-4280 during the business week.

NYU Stern Fertitta Veterans MBA Program

The Stern School of Business has a strong community of military veterans which you can learn about here. NYU Stern has the Fertitta Veterans MBA Program, which runs in the six weeks prior to the start of the two-year, full-time program. This program provides an opportunity to get an early start on classes, explore different career paths, and engage with the military community at Stern. Students admitted into the Fertitta Veterans Program are also considered for the Fertitta Scholarship, which is a partial scholarship.

If you have any questions regarding the Fertitta Veterans Program, you can contact their military liaison Erica Hartsfield (erica.hartsfield@stern.nyu.edu). You are also welcome to reach out to David Gordon (dgordon@stern.nyu.edu), who is happy to answer any of your questions related to your veterans benefits.

The background of the page is a photograph of a building facade with large windows and an American flag flying from a pole. A person in a suit and backpack is walking in the foreground. The entire image is overlaid with a semi-transparent purple filter.

You're Admitted, Now What?

We understand—there are a ton of things you've got to do before you can sit in a classroom and crack open those books. Other than the GI Bill, there are no veteran-specific processes that you need to observe in the admissions and enrollment processes.

Click here for more information

Graduate students should refer to communication from their individual programs for information for new students.

Who is a Military-Connected Student?

When we at NYU use the term Military-Connected Student, we are referring to those who served or who are still serving in the United States Armed Forces, as well as the children and spouses of the same. Additionally, we go above the VA's definition of veteran, adding members of and those who served in the National Guard or Reserves. Our definition of these terms has nothing to do with benefits usage, to be clear. You do not have to be using GI Bill benefits to be considered a military-connected student here.

While much of our programming is aimed at students who fit the above profile, we also want to be clear that a military-connected student can be anyone who feels like a part of the military community. Perhaps you have an aunt who is in the Air Force, or a cousin who deployed to the Middle East. Maybe your grandfather served in WWII. If you feel that the military-connected community of students is a place you belong, we encourage you to participate in most of our events, save for those reserved specifically for veterans/servicemembers.

We also are proud to feature a special informational platform that provides veterans a broad understanding of what the transition into college can be like. This is invaluable information primarily aimed at first-time undergraduate veterans, but it is applicable to current service members as well as graduate/professional students. Built by the Columbia Center for Veteran Transition & Integration, these modules center around military-lived experiences, navigating life at a large institution, and so much more. If you found that there were gaps in the information given to you as you separated from the military, this is a wonderful place to start.

NYU Military Alliance

The NYU Military Alliance in the NYU Center for Student Life would like to welcome you and express our gratitude for your service to our country. And if you are a dependent, we thank you for the support of your loved ones that have served our nation. To facilitate your journey at NYU, this resource guide has been composed with your priorities in mind. We recognize that NYU, not to mention NYC itself, can be overwhelming at times. Everyone's military journey is and was different. This guide has helpful information for your transition to NYU and to take full advantage of the vibrancy of New York City.

What is the Military Alliance & Community Center?

We are a non-partisan group that was created to cultivate a respectful, responsive, and encouraging environment for student veterans and military-affiliated undergraduate and graduate students like you. We provide a venue to build community, foster networking and raise awareness about the diversity and unique perspectives of military-affiliated students. Our vision for NYU is to be a place that fosters friendships, cultivates mutual understanding, strives to establish a greater sense of belonging, an environment that invites a synergy of ideas, and collective solutions for you.

The NYU Military Alliance, its University School partners, and military-focused units do not intend to be an extension of your military service. Rather, we are an alliance of people connected by military service that respect your lived-experience in solidarity with you. We know first-hand the issues, challenges, and triumphs of service. Our mission is to help student veterans and family members experience a high degree of well-being and thrive at NYU.

Whether you only know us through this guide, through visiting Military Alliance Community Center Lounge, attending the engaging events, or by volunteering your time in service to your fellow students, we are here for you.

Office of Student Success

At New York University, student success is our priority. The Office of Student Success is here to ensure that all students will have the support and resources they need to thrive in this dynamic learning environment.

As an added layer of support, the Office of Student Success has a dedicated staff member who works primarily with military-connected students. Through this staff member, who also served in the military, you will have the ability to receive one-on-one holistic support for your student journey, whether you need assistance navigating the transition into college, exploring academic and social opportunities, applying to grad school, developing/improving your study habits, or any number of other points in your academic journey.

- 1-on-1 Case Management: I can provide ongoing support as you move through your academic journey. Let's talk about time management, study habits, or anything else that you'd like to improve to be successful!
- NYU/Off-Campus Resource Navigation: NYU and NYC have so many resources for you as a student and/or as a military-connected student.
- Reducing the Ping-Pong Effect: Just like the name suggests, sometimes we get bounced between offices before we get an answer. I can help decipher or unpack the interactions you're having between NYU offices.
- Hurdles and Realities of Transition: Going from a military lifestyle to college can be tough for those who serve and their family members. As someone who lived that transition, let me help you with that transition.

- Advocacy in Tough Situations: Sometimes we have uncomfortable interactions with students, professors, or just living in NYC. I'd love to be your advocate when you need one.
- Amplify YOUR Voice! I serve on multiple committees and speak to senior leadership about military-connected students often, and including your experiences is VERY important to me. Whether through surveys, focus groups, or just in our normal conversations, I want to hear about your personal experiences so that I can uplift them.

To get in touch, please email veterans@nyu.edu or use NYU Connect to make an appointment.

NYU Student Veterans Association

The NYU Student Veterans Association is a group of military-connected students within the campus community. We are a non-partisan student club that was created to cultivate a respectful, responsive, and encouraging environment at NYU for military-connected students. The SVA holds regular meetings and hosts several social and professional events throughout the academic year. The NYU SVA also provides leadership opportunities within the organization by offering officer positions in addition to its member roles.

Additionally, NYU's SVA is a part of the larger Student Veterans of America national network of chapters. This affords our SVA the opportunity to work together not just in the local community but nationally, participating in such events as SVA's regional summits and their annual National Conference. For more information about Student Veterans of America, visit studentveterans.org.

If you'd like to get involved with the SVA, we encourage you to email veterans@nyu.edu so that we can put you in touch with SVA's current leadership team.

NYU Cultural & Resource Centers

Inclusion, diversity, belonging, and equity are the central pillars of our office's mission and values, values that we hope to infuse in every aspect of the University. In our continued effort to strengthen these pillars—and to better serve the individual communities that come together to form the NYU community—the Office of Global Inclusion, Diversity, and Strategic Innovation's work includes an ever-growing number of centers and communities across the University.

Through these partnerships, members of the NYU community can connect with peers and learn from community members who are thought-leaders and innovators in their areas of expertise. Visit the centers, connect with communities, and experience the support of a university that's constantly striving to become more inclusive, diverse, welcoming, and equitable.

GETTING AROUND NYC

The Metropolitan Transportation Authority is North America's largest public transportation network, serving a population of 15.3 million people within the 5,000-square-mile area extending from the five boroughs of New York City through Long Island, southeastern New York state, and Connecticut.

How to Ride the Subway

Long Island Rail Road

The Long Island Rail Road (LIRR) is both the largest commuter railroad and the oldest railroad in America operating under its original name. Chartered in 1834, it extends from three major New York City terminals—Penn Station, Flatbush Avenue, and Hunterspoint Avenue—through a major transfer hub at Jamaica to the easternmost tip of Long Island.

*+ Active-duty Military Discount:
off-peak fare at all times*

Metro-North Railroad

The Metro-North Railroad is second largest commuter railroad in the nation. Its main lines—the Hudson, Harlem, and New Haven—run northward out of Grand Central Terminal, a Beaux-Arts Manhattan landmark, into suburban New York and Connecticut. Grand Central has been completely restored and redeveloped as a retail hub—a destination in its own right.
