Professional Experience

2017-Present

Full Professor of Christian Spirituality, Graduate School of Religion and Religious Education, Fordham University. My responsibilities include teaching systematic theology and spirituality in MAPS, MACS, MARE, and D.Min. programs.

2012-2017

Academic Dean, Graduate School of Religion and Religious Education, Fordham University. My responsibilities include oversight of all academic affairs for the school as well as all advertising, marketing, recruiting, and development initiatives. Special projects include the creation and implementation of a collaborative governance structure, a curriculum assessment and revision for the school, the creation of new distance learning and hybrid programs, revision of financial aid processes, and restoring the school to balanced budgets.

2008-2011

Vice President for Academic Affairs, Academic Dean, Washington Theological Union. My responsibilities included overseeing all academic programs, information technology, admissions, and library operations. Special projects included developing an institutional outcomes assessment program, overseeing a comprehensive curriculum revision, launching a distance learning program, and planning the closure of the school.

2008-2011

Associate Professor, Washington Theological Union. I taught courses in spirituality for the Union's M.A., M.A.P.S., M.Div., M.T.S. and D. Min. programs.

1999-2008

Associate Professor, University of St. Mary of the Lake/Mundelein Seminary. I taught courses in church history, historical theology, and spirituality in the seminary's Lay Ministry, M.Div., D. Min., and S.T.L. programs.

1998-1999

Assistant Professor, Department of Religious Studies, University of Georgia. I taught courses introducing students to philosophical theology, Judaism, Christianity and Islam.
