

MS PP

MASTER OF SCIENCE IN PUBLIC POLICY

As data becomes increasingly available to the public service arena, talented policy analysts are needed more than ever before. This comprehensive program will teach you the skills to critically assess and communicate data so you can implement effective public policy. This quantitative, one-year program is uniquely designed to apply classroom learning to real-world experience through intensive practice, a hands-on studio project, and an internship in your field of interest. You'll understand how to effectively analyze and address the most pressing public service challenges of our time—so you can make your impact on the world.

EY is frequently looking to hire talented graduate students with quantitative analysis, critical thinking, and communication skills who can effectively analyze policies. This degree will give students the practical tools they need to make a positive impact on public policy.

Amber Mullins, MPA-HPAM 2013
Manager, EY

PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

- Skills and context needed to gather, evaluate, interpret, and communicate data to design effective public policies.
- Accomplished faculty of experts, practitioners, and policymakers working on almost any policy issue that you want to study.
- Comprehensive and hands-on approach—using real data and organizations—so you're ready to hit the ground running as a policy analyst.

ACADEMIC OVERVIEW

The MSPP is an intensive, one-year, cohort-based program. The unique curriculum blends policy analysis, management, quantitative methods, and communication skills. The program runs from August through July, and students must be enrolled full-time.

You'll graduate fully prepared for an impactful career in policy analysis in any sector and field—including economic development, education, health, housing, and finance. You'll be ready to work for think tanks, policy consulting organizations, government agencies, consulting firms, foundations, and private sector companies—from New York City to cities around the globe.

NYU | WAGNER

RANKED #11

OVERALL

BY U.S. NEWS & WORLD REPORT

SAMPLE CURRICULUM

Students must complete a total of 42 credits to graduate.

SUMMER	Methods, Microeconomics & Management Bootcamp Summer intensive introducing quantitative methods, microeconomics, and public management
FALL	Introduction to Public Policy Fundamentals of analytic approaches to public policy
	Public Economics and Finance How to interpret economic analyses and predict the effects of financial activities
	Quantitative Methods for Policy Analysis Introduction to key methods of quantitative policy analysis
	Financial Management Fundamentals of budgeting and accounting
	Communication Skills for the Policy Analyst How to effectively communicate public policy ideas to various stakeholders
	Topic Elective
JANUARY	Public Management The basics of contemporary public management and the critical analysis skills necessary for practice
SPRING	Program Analysis and Evaluation How to use evaluation tools to assess publicly funded programs
	The Practice of Work Two days per week internship in a policy role at an organization in NYC, plus supplemental experiential learning course
	Topic and Methods Electives
SUMMER	Applied Policy Analysis Seminar series and team projects that refine policy analysis skills
	Policy Analysis Studio Individual hands-on project that tackles a real public service challenge: conduct in-depth research and analysis, write an issue brief, present your findings to a panel of experts

APPLICATION COMPONENTS

- ✓ US bachelor's degree or equivalent
- ✓ Application and essays
- ✓ Transcripts from all undergraduate and graduate institutions attended
- ✓ Resume
- ✓ Two letters of recommendation
- ✓ GRE or GMAT
- ✓ TOEFL or IELTS Exam (if bachelor's program not conducted in English)
- ✓ $85 application fee
- ✓ Video essay (optional)

To apply, visit wagner.nyu.edu/apply

For upcoming deadlines, visit wagner.nyu.edu/admissions/applying

ELECTIVES

Electives are selected from an approved list of quantitative methods and topic electives. Topic electives can be clustered into specific policy areas (such as housing; education; health; transportation; international development; and inequality, race, and poverty).