This course introduces students to the main areas of corporate finance and how they relate to policy issues and discussions. The course covers topics in the three main areas of corporate finance: 1) capital structure (financing choices), 2) valuation (project and firm valuation) and 3) corporate governance (optimal governance structures). Where relevant, we will analyze how public policy, through taxes, public expenditures and regulation, affect these aspects of corporate finance. The course will additionally explore how key economic events have shaped public policy and influenced corporate financial practices. Case analysis will be used to enable students to understand practical application of the corporate finance theory introduced in the course and will also incorporate discussion of corporate finance in the context of social enterprises.

The course textbook is Corporate Finance: A Focused Approach, 6th Edition, Michael C. Ehrhardt and Eugene F. Brigham. (Loose leaf versions bundled with access to on-line supplemental content are available at the NYU Bookstore, rental versions should also be available from Amazon and used copies of the 5th edition may also be available – all are acceptable alternatives to higher priced hard-bound new books)

The text is supplemented with a packet of cases to be acquired at:
<http://cb.hbsp.harvard.edu/cbmp/access/49989919>

You should also have a financial calculator. Those of you that have smartphones may wish to download a financial calculator application for this purpose.

Prerequisites for this course include CORE-GP.1018 Microeconomics for Public Management, Planning and Policy Analysis and CORE-GP.1021 Financial Management or 1) comparable understanding of microeconomics and budgeting and accounting and 2) proficiency in Excel or some comparable spreadsheet program. Students who have not taken Fundamentals of Accounting GP.4130 are strongly encouraged to take it concurrently with this course.

It is important that you come to class well prepared. Having read the cases in advance of class is critical to learning in this course. You will be expected to actively participate in case discussions and participation will be a component of your grade.

4. Tax Rates

Your paper should be no more than 5 pages in length, and cover the following. a) Executive Summary, b) Description of the Policy enacted or under consideration, c) History of Policy's adoption including economic circumstances leading to its consideration, d) specific ways in which the policy's enactment has or could impact corporate finance (e.g., Security Market Line and Capital Asset Pricing Model, Yield Curve, Weighted Average Cost of Capital calculations, capital structure decisions, etc.).

Students will have an opportunity to volunteer to present their policy papers which will be counted toward class participation.
