In study after study, people lying on their deathbeds overwhelmingly say they regret five things at the end of their life: 1. Not living a life of authenticity 2. Working too hard at the expense of their relationships 3. Not having the courage to express their feelings 4. Not staying in touch with friends. 5. Not letting themselves be happier. For leaders, it’s not any different. This course unpacks each of these "regrets" with readings, exercises, meditation, deep listening, skill development and leadership theory, examining historical and contemporary answers to the question of what really matters in life, and providing the space for students to grapple with the question themselves.

Course and Learning Objectives

By the end of the course, students should be able to

1. Identify their values, purpose, and priorities
2. Have a baseline familiarity with their emotional landscape and how their emotional intelligence impacts their life and leadership.

3. Learn and be able to demonstrate several strategies for wellness and leadership effectiveness, including meditation, healthy sleep and eating practices, finding meaningful work, emotional process and friendship creation, and maintenance.

4. Understand and be able to articulate the connection between inner well-being and the social good.

Required Readings

“What Now? Meditation for Your Twenties and Beyond” (Parallax, 2017) by Yael Shy (available through most libraries, Bobst, and wherever books are sold). All other readings are available on Brightspace or will be emailed. Please complete the readings and assignments BEFORE the class where they are listed. Integration papers are due the hour before each class.

Course Requirements:

1) 70% - Integration Papers (see below)

2) 20% - Attendance! Show up! Persistent lateness/unexcused absence will count against class participation. Religious holidays are excused absences, however integration papers are still due within a two week window of religious holidays.

3) 10% - Class Participation. Please bring a notebook or journal and a pen with you to each class for exercises we will do in class. These exercises should NOT be done on your laptop, unless you have a Moses accommodation. Persistent checking of phones, laptops or frequent lateness will count against your participation.

Integration papers: It is easy to skim through many readings, but hard to remember what you've read unless you do some higher-level integrative processing. To help you do so, please submit a total of eleven 1-2 page “integration papers.” You can skip 2, and nothing is due the first week of class. You should choose two questions from the prompts for each integration paper, and make sure and answer them in a way that directly applies to your life. This should not be a book report or a third-person report - it should include your thoughts and reflections and ways this material intersects with your lived experience. Feel free to use “I” statements and share as personally as you feel comfortable.

Format the document as double-spaced, 12 pt font, with no title page, and an absolute max of 2 pages (1- 1.5 pages should be enough text). Be sure to put your name at the top. Submit your homework via Brightspace. They will be graded on a 1-3 scale where 3 = you have answered at least 2 of the questions and have applied each to your life in some direct way. 2 = you have done some but not all of this, and 1 = you are missing multiple elements. If you do not hand in any paper, it is a 0. Late papers are knocked down one level (3 to 2, 2 to 1, 1 to 0) for each unexcused late day. Papers that are more than 2 days late will automatically be marked a zero. Extensions and exceptions must be requested via email to your TA with the professors included.

Extra Credit: Write out your plan for a meaningful life, focused on what really matters to you. Drawing on all of your previous integration papers, the course readings and practices, write an essay that considers your life from all the angles we discussed in this class. What can you do to maximize your chances of having a meaningful life with no regrets? The expected length for the essay is 5-6 pages double-spaced. Tie the elements in your plan to our readings and class discussions.

Structure of each class: Each class will begin with a short meditation exercise. The class will continue with a lecture, followed by a discussion of the readings as well as additional experiential exercises. Guest speakers will join us for some of the sessions.

Detailed Overview of the Semester

SECTION ONE: LIVING A LIFE OF AUTHENTICITY

In order to live a life of authenticity, we must figure out who we are, what we value, and what our purpose is. Then we must structure or restructure our life in line with that authentic self.

December 14: Bringing it All Together

Lecture: An opportunity for small and large group discussion on themes, readings, and exercises from the course.

Readings/Assignments (to be done before class):

For integration paper 13, please choose your own text, article, song, video, book chapter, or piece of writing that inspires you to live a more meaningful life. You can choose just 1 piece of media or text or a few, but it should not be anything already read for this class, and the paper should remain the same length as a standard integration paper. What inspires you about this piece of text or media? How are you - or do you want to - incorporate it into your life? How about your leadership?

Option:

Students can choose to complete integration paper 13 as usual, OR you can do an in-class 5-7 minute presentation on the same topic: Answer the question "what inspires you to live a meaningful life?" using a text, article, song, video, book chapter, or piece of writing. You can choose just 1 piece of media or text or a few, but it should not be anything already read for this class. What inspires you about this piece of text or media? How are you - or do you want to - incorporate it into your life? How about your leadership?

Brightspace

All announcements, resources, and assignments will be delivered through the Brightspace site. I may modify assignments, due dates, and other aspects of the course as we go through the term with advance notice provided as soon as possible through the course website.

Academic Integrity

Academic integrity is a vital component of Wagner and NYU. All students enrolled in this class are required to read and abide by Wagner's Academic Code. All Wagner students have already read and signed the Wagner Academic Oath. Plagiarism of any form will not be tolerated and students in this class are expected to report violations to me. If any student in this class is unsure about what is expected of you and how to abide by the academic code, you should consult with me.

Henry and Lucy Moses Center for Student Accessibility

Academic accommodations are available for students with disabilities. Please visit the Moses Center for Students with Disabilities (CSD) website and click the “Get Started” button. You can also call or email CSD (212-998-4980 or mosescsd@nyu.edu) for information. Students who are requesting academic accommodations are strongly advised to reach out to the Moses Center as early as possible in the semester for assistance.
NYU’s Calendar Policy on Religious Holidays

NYU’s Calendar Policy on Religious Holidays states that members of any religious group may, without penalty, absent themselves from classes when required in compliance with their religious obligations. Please notify me in advance of religious holidays that might coincide with exams to schedule mutually acceptable alternatives.

NYU’s Wellness Exchange

NYU’s Wellness Exchange has extensive student health and mental health resources. A private hotline (212-443-9999) is available 24/7 that connects students with a professional who can help them address day-to-day challenges as well as other health-related concerns.
